6 GAIN FREEDOM

Guards Are Held In Leavenworth Prison Today

(BULLETIN)

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, Dec. 11.—Warden Thomas White was found at Bell school house, 12 miles west of here, with an arm shot off.

He was rushed here and is now in Cushing hospital.

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, Dec. 11.—Rioting prisoners were holding three guards as hostages inside the federal penitentiary here today according to one confirmed report from the prison.

The riot which was reported to have been quelled after six prisoners escaped taking Warden Thomas White with them as a hostage, flared anew, reports said, and soldiers armed with machine guns were sent atop prison walls.

No outward indication of a riot was evident from the edge of the penitentiary grounds but soldiers could be seen atop the walls. They were concentrating their attention on the interior.

No one was permitted to enter the prison grounds and the telephone at the prison was not answered.

The prisoners abducted Warden White as a means of protecting themselves in their getaway. He was said to have been taken by the group in the prison yard where he went with guards to investigate the riot.

The group made their escape through the south entrance of the prison.

A general call for all law enforcement officers in Leavenworth and as far east as Wyandotte, adjacent to Kansas City, was broadcast. The aid of firemen also was enlisted in the search for the prisoners and Warden White.

Soldiers from Fort Leavenworth, an army post, were rushed to the prison and machine guns were mounted atop the prison walls.

STORM KILLS TWO IN WEST

TEXARKANA, Arkansas, Dec. 11.—An extremely small but terrific tornado that dipped to earth one mile north of this city today took a total of two lives and injured seven other persons. One of whom is not expected to recover.

The dead are Ed. Hardin and Mrs. Herve L. Perry, whose homes were wrecked by the storm. Hardin's body was found 200 feet from his demolished home.

4 ELECTROCUTED

CHESTER, Ill., Dec. 11.—Following each other rapidly to the electric chair, four convicted murderers were executed at the state penitentiary here early today. Three of them were negroes. The white man, Henry Pannier, 57-year-old farm laborer, was the only one to maintain his composure as he marched to the chair. He was convicted for the slaying of Herman Schuline and his wife on a farm.

The first to meet death in the chair was Hazel Johnson, 23-year-old negro. The other two negroes executed were Willie Green, 31, and James Jackson, 31.

TEMLIN TO RUN

WILMINGTON, O., Dec. 11.—Promotion from the state house of representatives to the state senate will be sought by N. Floyd Templin, Republican who has represented Highland, Greene, Fayette, Ross and Clinton counties in the lower house for two terms, according to an announcement today.

Missing Co-ed

Friends and relatives of 20-year-old Esther Pitts, pretty University of Vermont co-ed, who vanished from the home of Rev. H. O. Tatum, where she was boarding while attending the university, fear that the girl has been stricken by a nervous ailment that kept her from school last year. A posse led by the missing girl's father is searching the vicinity of Burlington, Vt., for any trace of the student.

PLAN COUNTY FARM SURVEY

County - to - County Investigation of Agriculture Situation Planned.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 11.—A county-by-county survey of the Ohio agricultural situation as a new phase of his attempt to obtain Congressional farm relief and reestablish sinking farm credit in Ohio was set in motion today by Director of Agriculture I. S. Guthery.

The investigation was started with the preparation of a list of questions, to be submitted to thousands of Ohio farmers, in an effort to get an honest picture of the probable plight of Ohio agriculture in 1932.

TO STUDY RELIEF

Results of the inquiry will be made the basis of a statewide farm credit conference to be held here Jan. 14 when outstanding authorities on agriculture, possibly including U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, will assemble to find a way to resuscitate the industry.

The questions, frankly recognizing the financial difficulties of farmers, include:

1. How many farmers in your community will lose their land this year due to inability to pay off debts?
2. How many farmers in your community are unable to buy essential farm supplies and machinery due to lack of credit?
3. How much did you gain—or lose—this year?
4. Do you know any farmers who have been unable to purchase "feeding stock" for winter fattening because applications for loans were rejected?
5. How much grain do you have stored? How do you plan to dispose of it?

PICKED CELL LOCK

Capture of Fourth Prisoner Is Expected

(BULLETIN)

Lester Semran, 21, the fourth prisoner to escape from Ross-co jail early today has been captured.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Dec. 11.—Three of the four prisoners who escaped from Ross-co jail here today after "ganging" Sheriff T. Ewing Arganbright, 65, were captured a short time later, hiding in a farm house about five miles west of this city. All surrendered without resistance and were returned immediately to jail.

Those captured were Fred Starr, 25, alias George Hillman, said to be from San Francisco, Harley Hiles, 26, and Vernon Myers, 24. Lester Sherman, 21, of Milwaukee was still at liberty but a posse were hopeful of arresting him soon.

RECEIVED TIP

The surrender resulted from a tip received from a boy living in the vicinity of the farmhouse. When confronted by William Thorpe and Frank Ferguson, volunteer policemen, the boy told of seeing four men on the highway about 4 a. m.

Apparently waiting to catch a southbound bus, he said they entered the farmhouse. Authorities surrounded the place at once. Upon entering, they found three of the escaped prisoners sitting about in a leisurely fashion. The fourth was believed still secreted in that vicinity, although knowledge of his whereabouts was denied by all.

RUSHED TO JAIL

Under heavy guard, the men were rushed back to prison in automobiles while search for the remaining culprit continued.

Starr and Jemrau were in prison on charges of stealing automobiles. Hiles was awaiting the grand jury in connection with a recent robbery, and Myers, an escaped prisoner from the reformatory here, was detained for federal authorities.

After planning their escape, the four men summoned the sheriff about 3:30 a. m., complaining of the excessive heat. As Arganbright entered the corridor leading to the bull-pen, Myers attacked him.

The ensuing tussle awoke other inmates who attempted to assist the sheriff. Starr, however, armed with a barber scissors, checked their advance by blocking the door.

After administering a brutal beating about the face and mouth, the culprits relieved Arganbright of his keys. Opening doors at will they soon escaped from the institution.

Although not definitely ascertained, it was believed they gained access to the bull-pen by picking their cell locks.

FARMER IS MURDERED; INVALID SISTER HURT; $446 SUM IS STOLEN

John Kidney, 75, Dies 12 Hours After Being Beat and Badly Mangled by Men Thought by 70-Year-Old Sister, Sarah, to be Negroes, Early Thursday

SHERIFF FACES DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Home of Monroe-twp Man, Known to Have Hoarded His Money, is Ransacked by Three Bandits; Injured Man Left to Die

An inhuman story in which an aged man was killed and his sister, an invalid, beaten and choked was being unfolded today after a robbery in Monroe-twp, one mile south of Grange Hall Thursday morning, in which $446 was taken from the home of John Kidney, 75, a native of this county, a blacksmith and farmer and a lifelong resident of the community in which he met his death.

As a result of the robbery, thought to have been perpetrated by three, and possibly four negroes, Mr. Kidney is dead and his sister, Miss Sarah Kidney, 70, is suffering from shock, a fractured left arm, a bruised head and bruised throat when her assailants beat and choked her.

NEIGHBORS ANGRY

The entire neighborhood in the Monroe-twp district was up in arms Friday and woe be to the person who is found who had anything to do with the dastardly crime which is thought the worst which ever occurred in the annals of Monroe-twp, if not the entire county.

Sneaking up to the Kidney home in the dark of the early morning, the bandits, all bent on handling any situation which might present itself, even going as far as murder, loitered about the Kidney home until the aged blacksmith came from his home which was his custom every morning at 3 o'clock when he arose from his bed to assist his invalid sister. Mr. Kidney always kept the doors of his home barred by iron bars across the doors.

OPENED FRONT DOOR

Just as he opened the front door of the home the men leaped upon him and bore him to the ground. From the result of the fight, which must have been entirely one-sided, it is learned the men all used blackjacks to beat the head of their victim. According to Miss Kidney, who was sitting in her chair inside the home, she could not see what was ensuing but could hear the scuffle in front of the door.

It was not very long until three men, whom she described as negroes by the dim light of a lantern, entered the house and one of them struck her in the back of the head with a blackjack. She was rendered temporarily unconscious but began to swing her arms to beat the men back. One of them grabbed her throat and began to choke her and two others beat her arms behind her, breaking her left arm near the shoulder.

They tied her arms behind her by tying her thumbs with fishing cord. They then wrapped her head with a quilt and tossed her on the floor where she remained barely conscious of the havoc the men were making in the house.

She told authorities the men must have been in the house for two hours for they searched everything. They tore mattresses from the bed and cut them open, they tore bed ticks and searched through them, they removed every drawer of every table or buffet in the house, tore the dishes from the cupboard and threw everything upon the floor. They then dragged the body of Mr. Kidney into the house and dropped it inside the door. His hands were tied behind his body.

LIED ON COUCH

Not long after the men left, Miss Kidney was able to work herself to a couch which separated her brother from herself. She pulled herself upon the couch and saw her brother lying on the floor, swinging his legs which were tied. The agony through which Miss Kidney must have gone cannot be realized. Lying on the couch—unable to move to aid her brother—hearing him groaning and moaning—hearing his legs swishing back and forth across the floor—unable to call loud enough for help because the nearest neighbor lived a mile away—only the light of a lantern in the inky dark of the morning.

That is the agony through which Miss Kidney, sorely bruised and hurt, went from the time the robbers left until Mrs. Charles Grice, a neighbor, came to the home at 2 p. m. Thursday. Three or four times a week, Mrs. Grice had been taking milk to the Kidneys. Thursday she went to the back door as usual and knocked expecting to hear the call of welcome from Miss Kidney. It did not come and instead she heard moans and groans on the inside of the house. She hurried to the front door and upon pushing the door open she saw the body of Mr. Kidney lying in front of her smeared with blood, and saw Miss Kidney in a semi-conscious condition lying on the couch. She screamed.

RAN FOR NEIGHBOR

Mrs. Grice then collected her faculties and ran to the home of Harley Downs, about a mile away and called Sheriff Charles Radcliff. Sheriff Radcliff, with Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer, not having any idea what they were going in to hurried to the Monroe-twp home. There they found the body of Mr. Kidney on the floor.

Dr. Trimble had been summoned from Mt. Sterling and only a few minutes after Deputy Custer and another man placed the torn and beaten body of the man on the bed he passed away. Miss Kidney was questioned, but was unable to place any light on the persons who committed the terrible crime. She told Sheriff Radcliff neither she nor her brother heard anyone on the outside of the house until he started to go out the door. She did not hear anyone drive away after the crime although it is thought certain the men were in an automobile.

Mr. Kidney and his sister, Sarah, had neither ever been married. Their parents were Harmon and Sarah Moore Kidney, pioneers of the county.

HOARDED HIS MONEY

Mr. Kidney had a reputation among his neighbors of being a person to hoard his money. Everytime he received a check for blacksmith work, he hurried into a village to have it cashed then took the money home with him. News of this fact is thought to have leaked out giving the criminals a chance to make the raid in which

'BLUE BEARD' CONVICTED; WILL HANG

Murderer of Two Women, Three Children, in 'Love School' Convicted

POWER IS SCORNED

Appeal Thought Hopeless by Defense Attorney

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 11.—The collar of death is being measured today for Harry Powers, make-believe lover, who courted and murdered.

The matrimonial bureau penman has been judged guilty of the garroting of Mrs. Dorothy Lemke, of Northboro, Mass., one of his dupes.

He will swing high from the neck until he is as dead as the five innocent victims of his lust for murder and greed for money. He tossed them in a huddle into a burial trench outside his torture-chamber garage.

There will be few further legal formalities before he begins his march to the gallows.

ADmits FUTILITY

Defense Counsel J. Ed Law admitted today his motion for appealing the conviction of Powers has not much chance.

When his argument is heard before Judge John C. Southern next Saturday on setting aside the verdict of murder in the first degree Law will ask for a postponement of from sixty to ninety days to present an appeal to the circuit court appeals. The appeal for a new trial will be based on technical errors in the conducting of the four day murder trial in Moore's Opera House, Law said.

Powers resumed his normal prison life in the county jail, as if he had been away only on a business trip.

"The verdict was just as I expected," he told Sheriff Wilford Grimm.

After the verdict, the mass murderer went back to his cell and asked for a shave. "Slaughterhouse Harry," thinks more of his appearance than he does of his neck. A fellow prisoner was assigned to shave him. For now he is a valuable customer for the hangman and no chances can be taken.

MURDERED FIVE

The horror of his five crimes—the premeditated strangling of Mrs. Lemke, Mrs. Asta Elcher, of Park Ridge, Ill., and the latter's three children—is shared even by the fifteen federal prisoners on the third-floor tier of the county jail. When Powers returned from his trial, the other prisoners did not even greet him.

However, Harry is sufficient unto himself. After his shaving, he asked Andy Moore, the turnkey: "When do we eat?"

They gave him the regular prison fare of cabbage, potatoes and bread. He ate everything down to the crumbs and this morning's breakfast ditto.

And that is Harry Powers, the bloody engima.

CHRISTMAS SWEETS WITHIN THE BUDGET

Christmas sweets are important enough in the Christmas celebration—especially for the family that has no margin for luxuries—to call for a little change in the weekly food supply at this time, says the Bureau of Home Economics. From now until Christmas, it is suggested to the family following the bureau's low-cost market suggestions to cut down on bread and cereals if necessary, to provide the "makings" for home-made candy, without which Christmas does not seem to be just right.

This has been done in this week's market order by decreasing the usual allowance of bread and cereal somewhat and increasing the sugar. Other "makings" are the popcorn, nuts, and fruits included in this list this week, to give a more festive air to Christmas time. Some of them may be used as decorations for a tree if there is one, and at the same time they will furnish flavor and calories, so essential in the diet.

If some of the cereal is purchased in the form of popcorn, much pleasure can be provided for the younger members of the family if they may assist in popping, in making strings for decoration and the popcorn balls which are so popular. Kernels of popcorn floating in the soup add food value and increase interest in the soup.

Just one thing, the bureau adds by way of caution. Sweets should be eaten at the end of a meal. Otherwise, they dull the appetite for other foods which we can not do without.

The cheapest materials for home-made candy are white sugar, brown sugar, molasses, corn sirup, peanuts, coconut, popcorn, raisins, prunes, and other dried fruits, fresh apples and orange or grapefruit peel. The variety of interesting sweets that can be made from this list includes peanut brittle, sueded prunes, popcorn balls, molasses, taffy, toffee, apple candy, and any number of candies of different flavor made from fondant. The cheapest of all candy is plain fondant, made of nothing but sugar and water with a pinch of cream of tartar, or a little vinegar, and the flavoring.

Within the limits of this week's market list, the following recipes will be feasible. Other recipes for home-made candies are given in Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes Revised, or will be furnished upon request to the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

1-1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups nuts

Heat the sugar gradually in a clean smooth skillet. Stir constantly with the bowl of the spoon until a golden sirup is formed. Remove from the fire and stir in quickly the salt, soda, and vanilla. Pour the sirup over a layer of nuts in a greased pan. When cold, crack into small pieces.

DRIED FRUIT BALLS (Parisian Sweets)

Almost any combination of dried fruits, with or without nuts, may be used. The following were found to go together particularly well: Apricots, pears and nuts, figs, dates, and nuts, peaches, apples, and nuts, raisins without seeds, apricots, and figs.

Use equal quantities of any of the fruits selected. Wash and dry thoroughly, and run them, and nuts if desired, through the meat grinder, using the medium blade. Add a little salt, and moisten with enough sirup to make the mixture hold together and keep its shape when formed into balls. Roll the balls lightly in powdered sugar or dip them in coating chocolate.

Toffee

2 cups light brown sugar
4 teaspoons vinegar
1-2 cup butter or margarin
1-2 cup seedless raisins

Heat sugar, butter or margarin, and vinegar over a very moderate fire, stir until the sugar dissolves, then boil without stirring until the sirup forms a hard ball when tried in cold water. Pour carefully around and over the raisins which have been arranged in rows in greased pans. When cold, cut in squares.

Pop-Corn Balls

2 quarts freshly popped corn
2 cups kernels.
1 1-2 cups sugar
1 cup water.
2 tablespoons vinegar.
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Boil the sugar, water, vinegar, and salt, until the sirup hardens when dipped into cold water. Add the vanilla, and pour while hot over the popcorn and nuts and mix well. When cool enough to handle, grease the hands and form into balls, or place pop corn in a deep layer in a greased pan and cut in oblong pieces. When cold wrap in waxed paper. If desired, 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate may be added to the sirup for variety.

Candied Apples

1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 1-2 cups water
4 tablespoons melted butter or margarin.
4 tablespoons vinegar
Pinch of soda

Put the sugar, molasses, water, and vinegar in a heavy saucepan. Stir until the sugar has dissolved and boil without stirring until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire and add the butter or margarin, and soda. Stir until mixed and pour into a greased shallow pan. When cold pull until the taffy is a light golden color. When finished, cut into small pieces and wrap in waxed paper. The candy will remain "chewy" if kept in a refrigerator.

Sugared Pop Corn

1 1-2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
2 quarts freshly popped corn

Cook the sugar, water, and salt until the sirup forms a soft ball

when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, and beat with a spoon until it is creamy. Drop in the pop corn and stir quickly until each kernel is coated with sugar. Put on a platter and separate the grains of corn.

Steele Tallies Eight Field Goals

Their offense clicking in true fashion, Circleville Athletic Club's tossers had easy sailing against Shop Bakers of Columbus Thursday on the local court. The score was 38-26. Last Sunday night the Shops defeated the club at Columbus by a 45-24 score.

Led by Art Steele who hit the hoop for seven goals in the first half out of nine shots the club couldn't be halted. The Columbus offense was stopped dead by the speedy offense of the purple jerseyed players and in the first half Mike Mileusnich and his gang scored only eight points. The Club scored 22 to make the half end 22-8.

In the second half the Club didn't bear down resting on its big first half margin and the Columbus boys got going. All the players on the visiting team scored in this session while Joe Barnes did most of the C. A. C. point getting in the last half.

With his seven goals in the first half Steele added a goal and a free throw in the second half to score 17 of his team's 38 counters. Harris, big Columbus center, who scored heavily there last Sunday, was held scoreless in the first half and counted only once in the second half of the fray. Gibson, Otterbein college's 1929-30 star was held to one goal in each of the halves.

Next week the Club will play

Tally 33-28 Victory in Exciting Preliminary Contest Thursday evening.

Flying Clouds came to life Thursday night at C. A. C. gym and defeated a big and fast Darbyville team 33-28 in a fast and exciting contest.

The game started fast with both teams showing a good offense. The Clouds were led by Zeke Zeimer and Jaggy Davis. Another Davis, at guard for Darbyville, led his team's scoring with five action shots.

A feature was the expulsion of Joe Glitt, Cloud forward, and Porter, Darbyville center. Porter dropped Glitt to the floor, it is said, and Mr. Glitt immediately hung one on Mr. Porter with the result that Mr. Cuz Dumm, referee, chased both to the shower room.

With the boys' and girl's line-ups tentatively but not positively completed, the stage is set for the initial basketball encounters at Circleville high school gymnasium this evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock, with Rockridge teams furnishing the opposition.

Faculty Manager E. I. Gephart has been notified by Rockridge school officials that their small town will be represented at the game and have high hopes of 'carrying home the bacon.' This was the language used in a long-distance telephone conversation Thursday evening.

HEGELE INELIGIBLE
Both boys and girls squads are in excellent shape, one exception for the boys, the ineligibility of Bill Hegele, regular center, who will be a loss to the team for a week and possibly longer.

Carl Purcell, regular forward, is expected to replace Hegele at center. Merle Davis and Lloyd Leasure are expected to be starting forwards and Dean White and Pete tilts. The gymnasium doors will open at 7:15 p. m. and admission prices are 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

LETTERS GIVEN GRID PLAYERS

Sixteen football letters and one manager's letter were given out at chapel services Friday morning at the local high school.

BARNES TO PLAY

If Rockridge boys do not prove too strong, Coach Herberholz contemplates using members of his second string squad, he said.

GIRLS UNCERTAIN

As for the girls' lineup, Miss Rains stated Friday morning that her lineup would not be known until 7:29 p. m. Friday, one minute before the game. "At this time I will draw up the lineup, give it to Manager Melba Pearce and she will notify the players," Miss Rains said.

Jean Fitzpatrick, last year's scoring ace, and Zelma Betts are expected to start as forwards. Jane Hitler and Elizabeth Hilyard are bidding high for center positions and Dorothy Riegel and Katherine Brown for the guard posts.

A preliminary game between two eighth grade teams will be played during the halves of the varsity particularly desirable when descending steep hills or traveling slippery streets. For it enables you to use the engine as a brake, instantly, without slowing down the car.

Then, suppose you want Free Wheeling. Simply press a button on the dash. Thereafter, and until you pull the button out again, you Free Wheel. You coast along with a delightful gliding sensation. And you shift with never-to-be-forgotten ease.

The Free Wheeling mechanism of the new Chevrolet Six is a highly simplified type. Instead of a complicated mechanism with many moving parts, it is a simple, sturdy unit, with only three moving parts.

Then, along with Syncro-Mesh and Free Wheeling, Chevrolet offers you 60-horsepower six-cylinder performance, higher speed, faster acceleration, greater smoothness, smarter Fisher bodies, matchless economy, and a first cost that is among the lowest in the market. Certainly it's the great American value for 1932.

CHRISTMAS SWEETS WITHIN THE BUDGET
Christmas sweets are important enough in the Christmas celebration—especially for the family that has no margin for luxuries—to call for a little change in the weekly food supply at this time, says the Bureau of Home Economics. From now until Christmas, it is suggested to the family following the bureau's low-cost market suggestions to cut down on bread and cereals if necessary, to provide the "makings" for home-made candy, without which Christmas does not seem to be just right.

This has been done in this week's market order by decreasing the usual allowance of bread and cereal somewhat and increasing the sugar. Other "makings" are the popcorn, nuts, and fruits included in this list this week, to give a more festive air to Christmas time. Some of them may be used as decorations for a tree if there is one, and at the same time they will furnish flavor and calories, so essential in the diet.

If some of the cereal is purchased in the form of popcorn, much pleasure can be provided for the younger members of the family if they may assist in popping, in making strings for decoration and the popcorn balls which are so popular. Kernels of popcorn floating in the soup add food value and increase interest in the soup.

Just one thing, the bureau adds, by way of caution. Sweets should be eaten at the end of a meal. Otherwise, they dull the appetite for other foods which we can not do without.

The cheapest materials for home-made candy are white sugar, brown sugar, molasses, corn syrup, peanuts, coconut, popcorn, raisins, prunes, and other dried fruits, fresh apples and orange or grapefruit peel. The variety of interesting sweets that can be made from this list includes peanut brittle, sueded prunes, popcorn balls, molasses, taffy, apple candy, and any number of candies of different flavor made from fondant. The cheapest of all candy is plain fondant, made of nothing but sugar and water with a pinch of cream of tartar, or a little vinegar, and the flavoring.

Within the limits of this week's market list, the following recipes will be feasible. Other recipes for home-made candies are given in Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes Revised, or will be furnished upon request to the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

WEEKLY LOW-COST FOOD SUPPLY FOR A FAMILY OF FIVE
(Including two adults and three children).

Bread—9-12 lbs.
Flour—1-2 lbs.
Cereal, including popcorn—3-5 lbs.
Whole fresh milk—23-28 qts.
Or, canned or evaporated milk—23-28 tall cans.
Potatoes—15-20 lbs.
Dried beans, peas, peanuts, coconut—1-2 lbs.

Tomatoes, fresh or canned, or citrus fruits—6 lbs.
Other vegetables (including some of green or yellow color) and inexpensive fruits—15-18 lbs.
Fats, such as lard, salt pork, bacon, margarin, butter, etc.—2 1-2 lbs.
Sugar and molasses—6 lbs.
Lean meat, fish, cheese, and eggs—5-7 lbs.
Eggs (for children)—8 eggs.

RECIPES
Fondant
2 cups granulated sugar
3-4 cup boiling water
1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar or 1 tablespoon of vinegar
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon vanilla
Put the sugar, water, cream of tartar or vinegar, and salt into a saucepan over a hot fire. Stir constantly until, but not after, the sugar has dissolved. Do not splash the sirup. Remove the spoon and do not use it again after the sirup boils. Remove the sugar crystals around the edge of the pan with a dampened brush or wet cloth. Let the sirup boil until it forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Add the vanilla without stirring. Pour the sirup in a thin sheet onto a chilled platter so it will cool quickly. Do not scrape out the saucepan. When the sirup is cool, work it until it creams with a flat wooden spoon. When it forms a soft creamy mass, work it with the palms of the hands in the same way as bread dough until it is smooth.

Place the fondant in an earthenware or glass dish, and cover with a damp cloth. After about 24 hours the fondant is ready to mold. Fondant made in this way will keep for months in a cold place if covered with a moist cloth or stored in a tightly covered jar.

POP-CORN BALLS
2 quarts freshly popped corn.
2 cups kernels.
1 1-2 cups sugar.
1 cup water.
2 tablespoons vinegar.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Boil the sugar, water, vinegar, and salt, until the sirup hardens when dipped into cold water. Add the vanilla, and pour while hot over the popcorn and nuts and mix well. When cool enough to handle, grease the hands and form into balls, or place pop corn in a deep layer in a greased pan and cut in oblong pieces. When cold wrap in waxed paper. If desired, 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate may be added to the sirup for variety.

Candied Apples
1 cup sugar.
1 cup brown sugar.
1 1-2 cups water.
4 tablespoons melted butter or margarin.
4 tablespoons vinegar.
Pinch of soda.
Put the sugar, molasses, water, and vinegar in a heavy saucepan. Stir until the sugar has dissolved and boil without stirring until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, add the butter or margarin, and soda. Stir until mixed and pour into a greased shallow pan. When cold pull until the taffy is a light golden color. When finished, cut into small pieces and wrap in waxed paper. The candy will remain "chewy" if kept in a refrigerator.

Sugared Pop Corn
1 1-2 cups sugar.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 cups water.
2 quarts freshly popped corn.
Cook the sugar, water, and salt until the sirup forms a soft ball

1-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups nuts
Heat the sugar gradually in a clean smooth skillet. Stir constantly with the bowl of the spoon until a golden sirup is formed. Remove from the fire and stir in quickly the salt, soda, and vanilla. Pour the sirup over a layer of nuts in a greased pan. When cold, crack into small pieces.

DRIED FRUIT BALLS
(Parisian Sweets)
Almost any combination of dried fruits, with or without nuts, may be used. The following were found to go together particularly well: Apricots, pears and nuts; figs, dates, and nuts; peaches, apples, and nuts; raisins without seeds, apricots and figs.

Use equal quantities of any of the fruits selected. Wash and dry thoroughly, and run them, and nuts if desired, through the meat grinder, using the medium blade. Add a little salt, and moisten with enough sirup to make the mixture hold together and keep its shape when formed into balls. Roll the balls lightly in powdered sugar or dip them in coating chocolate.

Toffee
2 cups light brown sugar.
4 teaspoons vinegar.
1-2 cup butter or margarin.
1-2 cup seedless raisins.
Heat sugar, butter or margarin, and vinegar over a very moderate fire, stir until the sugar dissolves, then boil without stirring until the sirup forms a hard ball when tried in cold water. Pour carefully around and over the raisins which have been arranged in rows in greased pans. When cold, cut in squares.

Pop-Corn Balls
2 quarts freshly popped corn.
2 cups kernels.
1 1-2 cups sugar.
1 cup water.
2 tablespoons vinegar.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Boil the sugar, water, vinegar, and salt, until the sirup hardens when dipped into cold water. Add the vanilla, and pour while hot over the popcorn and nuts and mix well. When cool enough to handle, grease the hands and form into balls, or place pop corn in a deep layer in a greased pan and cut in oblong pieces. When cold wrap in waxed paper. If desired, 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate may be added to the sirup for variety.

Candied Apples
1 cup sugar.
1 cup brown sugar.
1 1-2 cups water.
4 tablespoons melted butter or margarin.
4 tablespoons vinegar.
Pinch of soda.
Put the sugar, molasses, water, and vinegar in a heavy saucepan. Stir until the sugar has dissolved and boil without stirring until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, add the butter or margarin, and soda. Stir until mixed and pour into a greased shallow pan. When cold pull until the taffy is a light golden color. When finished, cut into small pieces and wrap in waxed paper. The candy will remain "chewy" if kept in a refrigerator.

Sugared Pop Corn
1 1-2 cups sugar.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 cups water.
2 quarts freshly popped corn.
Cook the sugar, water, and salt until the sirup forms a soft ball

when dropped in cold water. Remove from the fire, and beat with a spoon until it is creamy. Drop in the pop corn and stir quickly until each kernel is coated with sugar. Put on a platter and separate the grains of corn.

Mother Martha Shops-

Why is it that at this season of the year everybody wants or needs shoes? Perhaps it is because there are so many Christmas entertainments going on and we always want the youngsters to shine on the platform, or perhaps we housewives are beginning to feel run down from too little outdoor exercise and there is nothing like a new pair of shoes to bolster us up. At any rate, we found all the shoe stores very busy with women and children customers.

For my part, I wanted a pair of frivolous shoes and needed a pair of comfortable ones. Jeanette needed a pair of school shoes again and Marion wanted a pair of pumps for the Christmas festivities. And the boys have irrevocably scuffed and worn their shoes. Even George needs a new pair of gum boots for hunting. I found these: last at Fellers and Grace for $2.95. Jerry would like some, too. I know. Boys sizes cost $1.49 and $2.00. And those Russian felt boots are clever with a high wool sock top and a rubber galosh shoe. The prices of them are $4.50 and $5.00.

School shoes are attractive here, too. I found some long-toed calf pumps with leather bows for Jeanette ($2.95). Fellers and Grace feature the Natural Arch bridge and the Kripendorf shoes for ladies, and the Stetson and Nunn-Bush or the Friendly Five and Racine shoes for men. They had a bargain display of kiddies' shoes for $1.48 and I bought Alice a pair of smoky elk and Ted a pair of brown calf. They should be outfitted for outdoors now. I also purchased several Non-Slips for the backs of heels. The whole family finds them useful.

For my comfortable pair of shoes, I chose Enna Jetticks. And, to my delight, I found several quite novel styles, at Mack's. My choice was a black kid pair with modernistic side panels, if you get what I mean. And I expect when Dorothy gets home she will want those modish brown kid pumps. Mack's has a fine line of Freeman shoes for men and the Star brand for women. They have such nice hosiery, too. Marion has been getting her silk stockings here, lately, for only 59 cents. They are full-fashioned Ironclads and some in 85 cent quality, as well. We save our tickets when we buy at Mack's. With so many dollars' worth, they give a premium. Their premium table is attractive.

Mack's have a complete line of women's, children's and men's quality footwear at reasonable prices. They specialize in giving proper fittings and especial care to children's and women's feet and sell only shoes of solid leather construction. The prices in women's footwear range from $2.95 to $7.00 and in men's from $2.95 to $8.00. I found some tan men's and boys' shoes on a counter for $1.95, and a display of men's silk socks for 35 cents. And before I left bought the shirina home set for 35 cents. It is a boxed shoe-shining outfit.

At Miller-Jones I was struck at once with their display of girls' boudoir slippers for only 99 cents. They were all black satin and lined with padded silk of different colors—peach, blue, red yellow. Dorothy must have some to match her yellow pajamas. And of course, the other daughters will want some, too. They are lovely. For 39 cents Miller-Jones sell youngsters' felt slippers. I found, here, the neatest dress slippers for dimmed the bitter quarrel between King Carol and his brother over the latter's morganatic marriage, according to reports from Bucharest today.

Despite denials issued in Bucharest, private messages reaching Vienna said Mme. Deletj was in a critical condition after swallowing a probably fatal dose of poison.

Court physicians were endeavoring to save her life, but the poison may have made such headway that their efforts would be unavailing.

Mme. Deletj left a number of farewell letters, reports here said, including one for her young husband, in which she said that in death she sought his "eternal love." She felt, she said, that she had become an obstacle to his official career due to the ultimatum of King Carol that Nicholas must go into exile and surrender all his constitutional privileges unless he abandoned his bride.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Santa Biondo, youthful lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company was mysteriously missing today.

Letters she wrote before her disappearance said she intended to commit suicide.

Don't Forget Donations To Community Tree

The American Legion committee is busy lining up candy, etc., for Santa Claus to distribute at the Community Tree party, which will be held at the Court House Christmas eve.

Each year a thousand bags have been given to the boys and girls who are there to see and talk to Santa Claus and each year hundreds of youngsters are made happy. You can help spread this Christmas joy to these youngsters this year by making a donation to the American Legion for purchasing the necessary supplies that will be distributed.

ORGANIZATIONS AID

The organizations of Circleville have cooperated splendidly with the Legion in making this a success and so far donations have been received from the Elks, the Kiwanis, Knights of Pythias, Pickaway Lodge No. 23, F. & A. M. and several others are to be heard from.

where the door was removed from its hinges. Mr. Highley's roll desk was "jimmied" and a compartment in the desk also broken open. It was in this draw that the money was found, most of which was in change.

The theft was discovered Friday morning when Saul Allison, janitor, reported at the building to work. He observed the door removed from Mr. Highley's office.

RESEMBLES OTHERS

While officers have no other clue than fingerprints, there is question whether the work was done by home talent of by professionals who have been blamed for similar thefts in Ohio schools recently.

Tuesday night the Sandusky high school was entered in a similar way and $100 stolen. The Fremont high school was broken into the same night and those at Foresta and Tiffin were entered Monday night with various sums stolen.

Ladies In Congress

NINE years ago Rebecca Latimer Felton occupied one of Georgia's seats in the United States senate for 24 hours. None other of her sex enjoyed that distinction until the present congress convened with Mrs. Hattie Caraway in the chair of her late husband, Thaddeus Horatius Caraway, of Arkansas.

Mrs. Caraway's presence there is not just a stunt. Although she is there by virtue of her husband's death, she may continue there for a full term by the will of the voters of her state, for she is the Democratic candidate for reelection and is conceded a strong chance of victory.

This gain for the feminists in the upper branch of congress is more than counteracted by losses in the house, where there are only six feminine members compared with 12 in the last session. Ruth Hanna McCormick gave up her seat last year to campaign unsuccessfully for senatorial honors in Illinois. Mrs. Pearl Oldfield, of Arkansas, has retired. Mrs. Katherine Langley, of Kentucky, was defeated. Of the six survivors three are Republicans and three Democrats.

Though the lady politicians are fewer in number they will exert more influence during this session than ever before through their succession to several important committee places. They have become a power in the committee room, which after all is the important thing.

Our laws may yet take on that long predicted feminine touch.

Statesman vs. Politician

DELEGATION of men and women recently waged upon a Congressman to argue against a certain bill. The son listened to the argument and then announced that he would make up his own mind on the subject. The committee then asked him whether, if all the people of the United States were opposed to the bill, he would still make up his own mind. He replied that he would be guided by his own sense of what is right.

Obviously upset by the interview, a member of the delegation demanded to know "Is a representative a representative? Should he be guided by the expressed opinion of his constituents, or by his own judgment?"

This is, indeed, a nice question. As to the moral implications involved, not all have a theory. And whether a lawmaker should or should not be influenced by the kind of pressure which public opinion can bring to bear upon him is a question for omniscience.

But this much is certain: Strong men, able men, self-respecting men, make up their own minds and cannot be swayed by the outcries of any organized group. Weak men, spineless men, demagogues and self-seekers, on the other hand, keep an ear to the ground and rush to do the most popular thing, regardless of their own convictions, if any.

Thoughtful people, on the whole, prefer men of the first type. Especially, since the pressure usually brought to bear upon a representative is exerted by an organized minority not representative of public opinion.

Financial Soundness

ONLY a few weeks have elapsed since President Hoover made public his plan for a credit organization that would restore confidence in the nation's banks and promote home building, but the idea and the program that grew from it have already proved their efficacy.

The National Credit Corporation, a $500,000,000 institution which realizes the president's wishes, has aided materially in the country's financial recovery. Its capitalization was quickly subscribed and banks have been joining in large numbers.

In all of the 12 federal reserve districts the system is working smoothly. Applications for loans have been handled daily and from the start funds requested by borrowing banks have been placed at their disposal within a few hours of receipt of application.

The very availability of aid has in some measure made aid unnecessary. Up to date the corporation has had ample funds available in subscriptions from New York banks alone and has not drawn on other pledges.

Financiers and economists credit the formation of the corporation and its prompt functioning with restoring confidence in banks throughout the United States. Fewer banks have closed their doors and money hoarding has diminished. Once more money is streaming into the banks instead of out.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST

Katharine Faring, granddaughter of a Russian prince, is the rightful owner of the missing Czarina rubies of sinister fame and fabulous value. Trying to recover them for her, Paul Federoff is murdered at Monksilver, a vacant country house, and Frank Severn is kidnapped and carried there unconscious. His servant, Creyke, is murdered.

Jim Wynter, friend of Severn and of Katharine, tries to rescue Severn, is injured and drugged and awakens in the home of mysterious Dr. Martell. Recovering, he takes Katharine and his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grayson, to Severn's country house, Beggar's Court. There a search reveals a concealed stairway and a locked door in the ruins of an ancient chapel. The stub of one of Dr. Martell's cigarettes lies on the stairs.

Sant, Severn's lawyer, reluctantly agrees that the door be forced and goes to engage a blacksmith. Wynter and Grayson encounter in a nearby village a man Grayson recognizes as a former Sing Sing convict. Returning to Beggar's Court they find a wall of the ruin collapsed and the secret stairway buried. A little later Wynter sees Dr. Martell's profile in shadow on a wall near Beggar's Court. After dark Wynter again goes to Beggar's Court, entering the grounds stealthily. He sees a light flash in the direction of the boat-house and goes to investigate.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER XXXV

Before he reached it he knew that someone was inside the boat-house—someone evidently moving there with a flash lamp; and it was through a little hole where a knot of wood had fallen out of one of the boards that a momentary gleam had shown from that moving light.

As he drew nearer, his footsteps soundless on the grass, Jim Wynter could hear the faint furtive movements within. Evidently, the man inside had no suspicion of those nearing footsteps.

Jim crept up; found that knothole in the white painted planking. The building housed a motorboat of modern construction that looked a model of efficiency and strongly enough built to take rough water. And a figure there seemed to be examining this craft with very great care and interest by the aid of a small electric torch, the gleam of which alone broke the darkness inside the boat-house.

At first the figure behind the light was too shadowy for Jim to distinguish his features even faintly. That tiny glowing bulb seemed to intensify the darkness beyond its immediate radius. Could that intent figure be Martin? And if Martin what on earth could he be doing with such evident stealth?

RECOGNITION

Not Martin! Suddenly, as though some faint sound from outside had caught his ears warningly, the stooping man straightened himself with a start, involuntarily swinging his lamp round; and for a second its beam of light touched and revealed a tensely listening face to Jim on the other side of that spy-hole.

Almost the last face that Jim Wynter in that amazed moment would have dreamed of seeing. The man from Sing Sing, John Isham! But no longer the crippled figure helpless without his crutches; a man standing erect, patently as independent of any such aid as if those crutches were no more than a blind—John Isham!

And almost in that surprising moment of recognition, as though the same uneasy apprehension that Isham's face betrayed had infected him, too, Jim Wynter swung suddenly round, with a faint sound creeping over the edge of silence to his ears. A sound not far away, like the snapping of a dry twig under a passing footstep. And in an instant that warning instinct had swept back on him again; a sense as of hidden eyes in the dark, of some stealthy menace looming out of the blind, perilous night.

As he swung 'round there came a sound scarcely as loud as the popping of a cork.

As he swung 'round there came a sound scarcely as loud as the popping of a cork. Something sang by his ears, to bury itself in the side of the boat-house not two inches away from him.

And Jim Wynter saw the wisdom of dropping very promptly and full length in the long grass, knowing that a killer was abroad in the grounds of Beggar's Court tonight. That bullet from a weapon fitted with a silencer had been deliberately meant for him and only by a bare two inches had been the margin between life and death.

War declared now on him, too. Speedy death would have been Jim Wynter's portion then if he had not dropped just when he did. Almost immediately out of the dark encompassing night followed a second shot.

The smack of the bullet on the side of the boat-house sounded unnervingly close.

The momentary flash revealed no more than the direction from which the shots had come. The dense darkness under the trees, that the dim misty twilight could not penetrate, screened any signs of movement there.

Only Jim knew that not far away an enemy lurked, a silent stealthy-moving shadow hidden in the deep still shadows, waiting—waiting. That unknown killer, whose unseen presence some instinct in him had sensed earlier near the ruins, who must have dogged him step by step through the trees into the open here by the estuary.

The estuary was at flood-tide, out on the turn, swirling and foaming between wide banks. An effectual means for a dead man with a bullet in him to be disposed of; swept down by the racing current and out into the open sea, a dead man would tell no tales! Hardly a pleasant thought for Jim Wynter, as he crouched there, with every nerve and sense strung up to an almost intolerable strain—but had that been the fate designed for him?

PERIL

A fate that might yet be his. That he was in a position of appalling disadvantage he was only too well aware. But his nerves before now had proved themselves uncommonly steady at close quarters with stark danger, and he could trust them not to let him down now.

"Rank bad shooting, anyway, to have missed me that first time," he told himself, his habitual cheerfulness reasserting itself even in a situation so too cheerful—"such a target as I must have made."

Now no longer silhouetted against the pale blur of the white-painted boat-house that reflected what little light there was, he was as much hidden from that unknown enemy as the latter was hidden from him—and that at least was in his favor.

Jim Wynter crouched there, listening with strained ears, not only for sounds of his enemy, but for the sound, too, of the coming of a motor car in the side lane that bordered these grounds, and for the signal of two boots from the horn that would tell him Bill Grayson was here at last.

Bill's opportune arrival on the scene would ease the situation very considerably.

In his pressing personal worries Jim had almost forgotten the man calling himself John Isham, whom he had surprised just now in the boat-house busy on some furtive business of his own.

The man there, who could have known nothing of what was happening outside—except that without warning a couple of bullets in rapid succession had ripped through the boards of the boat-house as if through paper, and that disturbing excitement were suddenly replacing the peace of the night—had made no sound, betrayed no sign of his presence there after those two shots.

But it was not Isham but Jim Wynter whom that unknown gunman wanted: the man crouching in hiding knew that beyond question. Knew too, that unless he could find cover of sorts before the next move in the game his chances might be very thin indeed.

PROTECTION

Fortunately cover was available close at hand. It was too dark for Jim's eyes to make it out with any certainty, but he remembered noticing that afternoon a fallen giant of a tree that some gale had uprooted lying near the boat-house. After an effort to recall the lie of the land, he began to drag himself very softly and cautiously in the direction he judged it to be. A journey of a few feet only—yet throughout it his senses seemed keyed up almost to the point of torment, prepared for a sudden shot or a rush of feet to tell him his movements had been heard.

Theaters

AT THE CLIFTONA

"My Sin" is at the Cliftona theatre tomorrow, with Tallulah Bankhead and Fredric March and a supporting cast of exceptional talent.

All the world knows of the astonishing success of Tallulah Bankhead on the open stage, particularly in London where for eight years she became a veritable craze with English devotees of the theatre. And the Londoner knows his dramatics. They are all schooled in the art of "make believe." They spot talent instantly and never fail to award merit a generous acclaim. And when talent is buttressed by beauty, then all London becomes enslaved to the new queen of the drama. This was Tallulah's setting for eight years.

When Miss Bankhead returned to her native land, Paramount immediately secured her for the stellar role in "Tarnished Lady" in which she scored an unquestioned victory as a screen star of extraordinary brilliance.

In "My Sin" Fredric March plays opposite Miss Bankhead. The play is a thrilling story of the re-generation of...

A Fear of Surgery Often Delays Goitre Treatment

It Is a Foolish Fear, Says Dr. Copeland, for an Operation Is Not Always Necessary and Neglect in Care May Aggravate the Condition

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

At some time or other, I am sure you have noticed somebody who had a marked swelling in the neck. Perhaps you have even diagnosed the trouble and called it goiter. That is what it is.

The victim may be alarmed at this growth, yet he avoids all medical advice. Perhaps this is because of the impression that an operation will be necessary. He fears the operation more than the growth. This is unfortunate because many enlargements in the neck are due to a simple form of goiter and do not require surgery for their cure.

Goiter is not so common in America as it is abroad. We are particularly fortunate in this respect. It is now believed that enlargement of the glands in the neck, an enlargement which results in goiter, is due to one of two things. It may be due to the consumption of too little iodine, or it may be caused by the entire absence of the iodine which is necessary for the protection of the thyroid gland.

If there is a failure, either in the amount of the iodine or in the form it reaches the body, the thyroid gland enlarges. This is looked upon as the direct cause of goiter.

Answers to Health Questions

M. E. S. Q.—What causes a choking sensation in the throat at times?

A.—This may be due to indigestion or heart trouble.

E. J. Q.—What can be done for too prominent shoulder blades?

A.—How can knock-knees be corrected?

A.—This usually indicates poor development—try to gain in weight and be sure that your posture is correct.

There are other factors which are incidental and which may be considered as indirect causes. For example, infections, poisonings, faulty diets and severe periods of stress, particularly in the female—during puberty, pregnancy or change of life—these are some of the factors that enter into the matter. It is because of these that goiter is found more frequently in females than in males. There has been too much carelessness regarding goiter. The victim of this condition should be under the personal supervision of a physician who will determine what to do. He will advise the patient as to diet and manner of living.

Iodine As a Preventive

In considering the prevention of this disease, it has been found that certain foods which are rich in iodine will often prevent goiter. For example, certain sea foods, particularly deep sea fish, notably the salmon, and lobsters are rich in iodine.

It has been found that iodine added to certain water supplies has acted as a preventive of this disease. This method of control has been used in the Great Lakes districts and other parts of America. This has been used in what is called the Goiter Belt, where the iodine content of water is particularly low. In certain of these communities, school children are given periodically certain medicines containing iodine. This measure has been remarkably successful and no doubt has prevented many cases of goiter which otherwise would have developed.

Goiter is not a disease to become alarmed about, nor does it necessarily mean cancer. It is wise for you to neglect it and you should not do so.

R. A. Q.—Can superfluous hair be permanently eradicated by the use of the electric needle?

A.—For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

AT THE GRAND

Of all the romantic spots in America, the South is the most often referred to in literature and song.

The screen, which for some unknown reason has lagged behind in appreciation of the romantic possibilities below the Mason and Dixon line, comes to the fore at last with a picture which fully reflects the chivalry and gallantry of the Southern states.

The film in question is RKO Radio Pictures' "Secret Service" which stars Richard Dix at the Grand theatre.

Directed by J. Walter Ruben from a screen play based on the famous spy drama by William Gillette, the film vividly re-creates the glamorous war-time spirit of the South and at the same time weaves into the background an intensely human story of love and loyalty.

AT THE CIRCLE

Grant Withers, one of the stars of "Swanee River," at the Circle theatre, is an agile diver and expert swimmer, but Thelma Todd, the charming blonde who plays opposite Mr. Withers in this excellent talkie, while also adept at the aquatic sports, cannot swim in extremely cold water. Miss Todd's peculiar sensitiveness to low water temperature, nearly cost her her life during a "Swanee River" sequence.

In one of the dramatic scenes of "Swanee River" Miss Todd had to enter an ice-cold stream clinging to Mr. Withers' arm. Suddenly a severe cramp attacked the girl and she gripped Mr. Withers' arm with almost superhuman strength. As the cameras and sound equipment were recording every move and sound of the struggling couple, Mr. Withers had the presence of mind to remember not to adopt the usual method in such cases.

Maplewood Ave.

Dear Santa:

I am a little girl, 7 years old, and I practice my music lesson a half hour every day. Mother says that is what you call a good little girl, so Santa this is what I want for Christmas—pair of skates, a doll house, a skill ball, sewing machine, electric stove, books, pencil box, horn, a big doll and don't forget Mother and Daddy, and my Grandma and Grandpa Howard.

From Your Little Friend,
MARY KATHERINE STEIN,
466 East Franklin St.

137 York St.

Dear Santa Claus:

Will you please bring a little trap drum, a train on the track and a little Austin to me Christmas.

Don't forget the little kiddies that their daddies are out of work. I am a little boy 3 1-2 years old and I try to be as good as I can. Goodbye until Christmas.

Richard Eugene Ankrom.

Dear Pal, (Santa):

I'm a little girl in the second grade, and have been very good. I want a doll with real hair and that cries a big one if you can. My mother is writing this as I'm not a good writer. Love,

DIFFERENT LICENSE NUMBERS OF OHIO LOCALITIES REPORTED

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 11.—

Here's a tip to autoists and pedestrians.

You can tell in what section of Ohio an automobile owner resides by noting the numerals on his, or her, auto plates.

In making the annual distribution of motor vehicle license plates, officials of the state bureau of motor vehicle registration are observing the customary procedure of assigning certain blocks of the tags to particular sections of the state.

As a result, practically the same numbers will be found on autos in a certain community next year that were placed on them during the past several years.

Here is how some of the license plates have been distributed:

Cleveland: Nos. 8,201 to 8,600, inclusive; 25,—1 to 50,000, inclusive, and D1,401 to D1,900, inclusive.

Cincinnati and suburbs: Nos. 66,001 to 72,000 inclusive; 873,101 to 966,300, inclusive, and A7,201 to A8,600, inclusive.

COLUMBUS: Nos. 9,001 to 15,000, inclusive; 90,001 to 93,000, inclusive, and B1,001 to B2,000, inclusive.

Toledo: Nos. 50,001 to 55,000, inclusive; C1,001 to C40,800, inclusive; C40,901 to C80,000, inclusive, and K5,001 to K10,000, inclusive.

Dayton: H6,601 to H64,400, inclusive; E89,001 to E89,150, inclusive.

Youngstown: Nos. 60,001 to 61,000, inclusive; 764,001 to 25,000, inclusive.

Akron: Nos. 17,001 to 20,000, inclusive.

Barberton: Nos. 7,901 to 8,200, inclusive.

Canton: Nos. 55,001 to 58,000, inclusive.

Mansfield: Nos. 6,201 to 6,700, inclusive, and 252,901 to 262,600, inclusive.

Massillon: Nos. 61,001 to 63,000, inclusive.

Lima: Nos. 63,001 to 66,000, inclusive; B71,201 to B80,000, inclusive.

Ladies In Congress

NINE years ago Rebecca Latimer Felton occupied one of Georgia's seats in the United States senate for 24 hours. None other of her sex enjoyed that distinction until the present congress convened with Mrs. Hattie Caraway in the chair of her late husband, Thaddeus Horatius Caraway, of Arkansas.

Mrs. Caraway's presence there is not just a stunt. Although she is there by virtue of her husband's death, she may continue there for a full term by the will of the voters of her state, for she is the Democratic candidate for reelection and is conceded a strong chance of victory.

This gain for the feminists in the upper branch of congress is more than counteracted by losses in the house, where there are only six female members compared with 12 in the last session. Ruth Hanna McCormick gave up her seat last year to campaign unsuccessfully for senatorial honors in Illinois. Mrs. Pearl Oldfield, of Arkansas, has retired. Mrs. Katherine Langley, of Kentucky, was defeated. Of the six survivors three are Republicans and three Democrats.

Though the lady politicians are fewer in number they will exert more influence during this session than ever before through their success to several important committee places. They have become a power in the committee room, which after all is the important thing.

Our laws may yet take on that long predicted feminine touch.

Statesman vs. Politician

A DELEGATION of men and women recently waited upon a Congressman to argue against a certain bill. The solon listened to the argument and then announced that he would make up his own mind on the subject. The committee then asked him whether, if all the people of the United States were opposed to the bill, he would still make up his own mind. He replied that he would be guided by his own sense of what is right.

Obviously upset by the interview, a member of the delegation demanded to know "Is a representative a representative?" Should he be guided by the expressed opinion of his constituents, or by his own judgment?

This is, indeed, a nice question. As to the moral implications involved, not all have a theory. And whether a lawmaker should or should not be influenced by the kind of pressure which public opinion can bring to bear upon him is a question for omniscience.

But this much is certain; Strong men, able men, self-respecting men, make up their own minds and cannot be swayed by the outcries of any organized group. Weak men, spineless men, demagogues and self-seekers, on the other hand, keep an ear to the ground and rush to do the most popular thing, regardless of their own convictions, if any.

Thoughtful people, on the whole, prefer men of the first type. Especially, since the pressure usually brought to bear upon a representative is exerted by an organized minority not representative of public opinion.

Financial Soundness

ONLY a few weeks have elapsed since President Hoover made public his plan for a credit organization that would restore confidence in the nation's banks and promote home building, but the idea and the program that grew from it have already proved their efficacy.

The National Credit Corporation, a $500,000,000 institution which realizes the president's wishes, has aided materially in the country's financial recovery. Its capitalization was quickly subscribed and banks have been joining in large numbers.

In all of the 12 federal reserve districts the system is working smoothly. Applications for loans have been handled daily and from the start funds requested by borrowing banks have been placed at their disposal within a few hours of receipt of application.

The very availability of aid has in some measure made an unnecessary. Up to date the corporation has had ample funds available in subscriptions from New York banks alone and has not drawn on other pledges.

Financiers and economists credit the formation of the corporation and its prompt functioning with restoring confidence in banks throughout the United States. Fewer banks have closed their doors and money hoarding has diminished. Once more money is streaming into the banks instead of out.

The CZARINA'S RUBIES

by Sidney Warwick

READ THIS FIRST

Katharine Faring, granddaughter of a Russian prince, is the rightful owner of the missing Czarina rubies of sinister fame and fabulous value. Trying to recover them for her, Paul Fedoroff is murdered at Munkskloster, a vacant country house, and Frank Severn is kidnapped and carried there unconscious. His servant, Creyke, is murdered.

Jim Wynter, friend of Severn and of Katharine, tries to rescue Severn, is injured and drugged and awakens in the home of mysterious Dr. Martell. Recovering, he takes Katharine and his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grayson, to Severn's country home, Beggar's Court. There a search reveals a concealed stairway and a locked door in the ruins of an ancient chapel. The stub of one of Dr. Martell's cigarettes lies on the stairs. Sant, Severn's lawyer, reluctantly agrees that the door be forced and goes to engage a blacksmith. Wynter and Grayson encounter in a nearby village a man Grayson recognizes as a former Sing Sing convict. Returning to Beggar's Court they find a wall of the ruin collapsed and the secret stairway buried. A little later Wynter sees Dr. Martell's profile in shadow on a wall near Beggar's Court. After dark Wynter again goes to Beggar's Court, entering the grounds stealthily. He sees a light flash in the direction of the boathouse and goes to investigate.

NOW GO ON

CHAPTER XXXV

Before he reached it he knew that someone was inside the boathouse—someone evidently moving there with a flash lamp; and it was through a little hole where a knot of wood had fallen out of one of the boards that a momentary gleam had shown from that moving light.

As he drew nearer, his footsteps sounded on the grass, Jim Wynter could hear the faint furtive movements within. Evidently, the man inside had no suspicion of those nearing footsteps.

Jim crept up; found that knothole in the white painted plank. The building housed a motorboat of modern construction that looked a model of efficiency and strongly enough built to take rough water. And a figure there seemed to be examining this craft with very great care and interest by the aid of a small electric torch, the gleam of which alone broke the darkness inside the boathouse.

At first the figure behind the light was too shadowy for Jim to distinguish his features even faintly. That tiny glowing bulb seemed to intensify the darkness beyond its immediate radius. Could that intent figure be Martini? And if Martini what on earth could he be doing with such evident stealth?

RECOGNITION

Not Martini! Suddenly, as though some faint sound from outside had caught his ears warningly, the stooping man straightened himself with a start, involuntarily swinging his lamp round; and for a second its beam of light touched and revealed a tensely listening face to Jim on the other side of that spy-hole.

Almost the last face that Jim Wynter in that amazed moment would have dreamed of seeing. The man from Sing Sing, John Isham!

But no longer the crippled figure helpless without his crutches; a man standing erect, patently as independent of any such aid as if those crutches were no more than a blind—John Isham!

And almost in that surprising moment of recognition, as though the same uneasy apprehension that Isham's face betrayed had infected him, too, Jim Wynter swung suddenly round, with a faint sound creeping over the edge of silence to his ears. A sound not far away, like the snapping of a dry twig under a passing footstep. And in an instant that warning instinct had swept back on him again; a sense, as of hidden eyes in the dark, of some stealthy menace looming out of the blind, perilous night.

As he swung round there came a sound scarcely as loud as the popping of a cork.

As he swung round there came a sound scarcely as loud as the popping of a cork. Something sang by his ears, to bury itself in the side of the boathouse two inches away from him.

And Jim Wynter saw the wisdom of dropping very promptly and full length in the long grass, knowing that a killer was abroad in the grounds of Beggar's Court tonight. That bullet from a weapon fitted with a silencer had been deliberately meant for him and only by a bare two inches had been the margin between life and death.

War declared now on him, too.

Speedy death would have been Jim Wynter's portion then if he had not dropped just when he did. Almost immediately after the dark encompassing night followed a second shot. The smack of the bullet on the side of the boathouse sounded unerringly close.

The momentary flash revealed no more than the direction from which the shots had come. The dense blackness under the trees, that the dim misty starlight could not penetrate, screened any signs of movement there.

Only Jim knew that not far away an enemy lurked, a silent stealthy-moving shadow hidden in the deep still shadows, waiting—waiting. That unknown killer, whose unseen presence some instinct in him had sensed earlier near the ruins, who must have dogged him step by step through the trees into the open here by the estuary.

The estuary was at flood-tide, out on the turn, swirling and foaming between wide banks. An official means for a dead man with a bullet in him to be disposed of, swept down by the racing current and out into the open sea, a dead man would not take! Hardly a plausible thought for Jim Wynter, as he crouched there, with every nerve and some strange up to an almost intolerable strain—but had that been the fate designed for him?

PERIL

A face that might yet be his. That he was in a position of peril was no advantage he was aware of; he was aware. But his nerves were far from steady at close quarters with such danger, and he could trust them not to let him down now.

"Rank had shooting anyway, to have missed me that first time," he told himself, his habitual cheerfulness reasserting itself even in a situation none too cheerful—"such a target as I must have made."

Now no longer silhouetted against the pale blue of the white-painted boathouse that reflected what little light there was, he was as much hidden from that unknown enemy as the latter was hidden from him—and that at least was in his favor.

Jim Wynter crouched there, listening with strained ears, not only for sounds of his enemy, but for the sound, too, of the coming of a motor car in the side lane that bordered these grounds, and for the signal of two boots from the horn that would tell him Bill Grayson was here at last.

Bill's opportune arrival on the scene would ease the situation very considerably.

In his pressing personal worries Jim had almost forgotten the man falling him-off John Isham, whom he had surprised just now in the boathouse busy on some future business of his own.

The man there, who could have known nothing of what was happening outside except that what was happening a couple of bullets in good succession had ripped through the boards of the boathouse as if through paper, and thus disturbing the peace of the night—had not, as he was suddenly aware, betrayed some instinct in him that had sensed earlier near the ruins, who must have dogged him step by step through the trees into the open here by the estuary.

The estuary was at flood-tide, out on the turn, swirling and foaming between wide banks. An official means for a dead man with a bullet in him to be disposed of, swept down by the racing current and out into the open sea, a dead man would not take! Hardly a plausible thought for Jim Wynter, as he crouched there, with every nerve and some strange up to an almost intolerable strain—but had that been the fate designed for him?

PROTECTION

Fortunately cover was available close at hand. It was too dark for Jim's eyes to make it out with any certainty, but he remembered noticing a tree that some gale had uprooted long near the boathouse. After an effort to recall the line of the trunk, he began to drag him off very softly and cautiously in the direction he judged it to be. A heavy oak, a few feet high, and as thick as his legs, it was a goodly tree, and Jim knew that beyond question it was a tree that he could trust to protect him from a bullet or a flash of light to which his movements had been betrayed.

At the end of the tree, he

CLASSIFIED COLUMNS

The CIRCLEVILLE HERALD and THE UNION-HERALD

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Circleville Herald style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Advertising orders for irregular insertions take the one-time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count five average words to the line on paid advertisements.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at Circleville Herald office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rates will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or seven times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared, and adjustment made at the rate earned. All ads ordered seven times will be published in the Union-Herald (Weekly) and will be counted as one insertion, as will three-times ads ordered printed in Tuesday's or Wednesday's issues of the Daily.

Ads received up to 11 A. M. will be inserted the same day. A charge of $1.00 is made for publishing obituaries. A charge of 50 cents is made for publishing Cards of Thanks. Special rates for yearly advertising upon request. Careful attention given to mail orders. Rates per line for consecutive insertions: One time . . . . . 6c per line Three times for the price of two. Seven times for the price of three.

Mother Martha Shops-

Why is it that at this season of the year everybody wants or needs shoes? Perhaps it is because there are so many Christmas entertainments going on and we always want the youngsters to shine on the platform, or perhaps we housewives are beginning to feel run down from too little outdoor exercise and there is nothing like a new pair of shoes to bolster us up. At any rate, we found all the shoe stores very busy with women and children customers.

For my part, I wanted a pair of frivolous shoes and needed a pair of comfortable ones. Jeanette needed a pair of school shoes again and Marion wanted a pair of pumps for the Christmas festivities. And the boys have irrevocably scuffed and worn their shoes. Even George needs a new pair of gum boots for hunting. I found these last at Fellers and Groce for $2.95. Jerry would like some, too. I know. Boys sizes cost $1.49 and $2.00. And those Russian felt boots are clever with a high wool sock top and a rubber galosh shoe. The prices of them are $4.50 and $5.00.

School shoes are attractive here, too. I found some long-toed calf pumps with leather bows for Jeanette ($2.95). Fellers and Groce feature the Natural Arch bridge and the Kripendorf shoes for ladies, and the Stetson and Num-Bush or the Friendly Five and Racine shoes for men. They had a bargain display of kiddies' shoes for $1.48 and I bought Alice a pair of smoked elk and Ted a pair of brown calf. They should be out-fitted for outdoors now. I also purchased several Non-Slips for the backs of heels. The whole family finds them useful.

For my comfortable pair of shoes, I chose Enna Jeticks. And, to my delight, I found several quite novel styles, at Mack's. My choice was a black kid pair with modernistic side panels, if you get what I mean. And I expect when Dorothy gets home she will want those modish brown kid pumps. Mack's has a fine line of Freeman shoes for men and the Star brand shoes for women. They have such nice looking silk stockings here, lately, for only 59 cents. They are full-fashioned Ironclads and some in 85 cent quality, as well. We save our tickets when we buy at Mack's. With so many dollars' worth, they give a premium. Their premium table is attractive.

Mack's have a complete line of women's, children's and men's quality footwear at reasonable prices. They specialize in giving proper fittings and especial care to children's and women's feet and sell only shoes of solid leather construction. The prices in women's footwear range from $2.95 to $7.00 and in men's and boys' shoes on a counter for $1.95, and a display of men's silk socks for 35 cents. And before I left bought the shiraha home set for 35 cents. It is a boxed shoe-shining outfit.

At Miller-Jones I was struck at once with their display of girls' boudoir slippers for only 99 cents. They were all black satin and lined with padded silk of different colors — peach, blue, red yellow. Dorothy must have some to match her yellow pajamas. And of course, the other daughters will want some, too. They are lovely. For 39 cents Miller-Jones sell youngsters' felt slippers. I found, here, the neatest dress slippers for $3.99. They are the Miller-Jones health shoes. And those are the most expensive shoes they have. I was surprised at the quality of all their shoes for the low prices. When we need rain boots, there are some fine bargains here both in child and adult sizes. They sell the State Seal hosiery for 35 cents and 79 cents, the latter full-fashioned. And children's hose are as low-priced as ten cents per pair. After I had chosen my frivolous shoes and decided on some for Marion, I turned home with a sigh of satisfaction. At least, we'll all have a good "understanding" this Christmas.

Court News

FILES SUIT

Wife of Prince Tries Suicide

VIENNA, Dec. 11.—An attempt at suicide by Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, pretty dark-haired bride of Prince Nicholas of Roumania, has climaxed the bitter quarrel between King Carol and his brother over the latter's morganatic marriage, according to reports from Bucharest today.

Despite denials issued in Bucharest, private messages reaching Vienna said Mme. Deletj was in a critical condition after swallowing a probably fatal dose of poison.

Court physicians were endeavoring to save her life, but the poison may have made such headway that their efforts would be unavailing.

Mme. Deletj left a number of farewell letters, reports here said, including one for her young husband, in which she said that in death she sought his "eternal love."

She felt, she said, that she had become an obstacle to his official career due to the ultimatum of King Carol that Nicholas must go into exile and surrender all his constitutional privileges unless he abandoned his bride.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Santa Biondo, youthful Lyric soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company was mysteriously missing today.

Letters she wrote before her disappearance said she intended to commit suicide.

Awaits Death By Hanging

Don't Forget Donations To Community Tree

The American Legion committee is busy lining up candy, etc., for Santa Claus to distribute at the Community Tree party, which will be held at the Court House Christmas eve.

Each year a thousand bags have been given to the boys and girls who are there to see and talk to Santa Claus and each year hundreds of youngsters are made happy. You can help spread this Christmas joy to these youngsters this year by making a donation to the American Legion for purchasing the necessary supplies that will be distributed.

ORGANIZATIONS AID

The organizations of Circleville have cooperated splendidly with the Legion in making this a success and so far donations have been received from the Elks, the Kiwanis, Knights of Pythias, Pickaway Lodge No. 23, F. & A. M. and several others are to be heard from.

Don't delay making this contribution to such a worthy cause and send it or phone Karl J. Herrmann, of the Legion Committee, or Paul H. Betz, Legion Commander.

Any member of the family of Mrs. W. G. Jacobs, 168 W. Mound-st. is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

where the door was removed from its hinges. Mr. Highley's roll desk was "jimmied" and a compartment in the desk also broken open. It was in this draw that the money was found, most of which was in change.

The theft was discovered Friday morning when Saul Allison, janitor, reported at the building to work. He observed the door removed from Mr. Highley's office.

RESEMBLES OTHERS

While officers have no other clue than fingerprints, there is question whether the work was done by home talent of by professionals who have been blamed for similar thefts in Ohio schools recently.

Tuesday night the Sandusky high school was entered in a similar way and $100 stolen. The Fremont high school was broken into in the same night and those at Forestoria and Tiffin were entered Monday night with various sums stolen.

B. & P. CLUB CELEBRATE EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY

A delightful affair was the birthday dinner of the business and Professional Women's club at Hanley's tea room Thursday evening, when members of the club celebrated its eighth anniversary. Approximately thirty-five members were seated at 6:30 o'clock to enjoy a turkey dinner at charmingly appointed tables, centered with a birthday cake and various colored flowers.

The pleasure of the dinner hour was enjoyed throughout the delightful program in charge of Mrs. Anna Chandler. After several piano selections by Miss Elizabeth Rounhouse, a very interesting paper, "Our Beloved Child, The Business and Professional Women's Club," was given in a most pleasing manner by Miss Charlotte McEwing. Miss McEwing told in a unique way the history of the club from its organization in 1923 to its eighth anniversary by comparing it with the life of a child.

Miss Mary Wilder was introduced as one of the organizers of the club. Charter members were also mentioned.

Cards were played at the conclusion of the program. Prize for top score was awarded Miss Marie Robertson.

WASHINGTON GRANGE MEETS THURSDAY

At the regular meeting of the Washington Grange held at the Washington-two school building, Thursday evening, Scoto Valley Grange conferred the third and fourth degree on a class of Washington candidates.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett, A. W. Boyer, Miss Martha Hiltner and Mrs. Russell Palm were included in the class.

After the meeting an oyster supper was enjoyed by the members.

SHOWER HONORS RECENT BRIDE

Honoring Mrs. Ernest Weiler (Evelyn Fohl), a recent bride, Mrs. James Adams entertained at a dinner, bridge and miscellaneous shower at her home on S. Court-st. Thursday evening.

After the dinner, served at prettily appointed small tables, centered with green tapers tied with white bows, bridge was enjoyed at four tables. When tallies were added, score prizes were awarded Miss Evelyn Adkins, Miss Helen Hiltner and Miss Esther Riegel.

Mrs. Weiler received many beautiful and useful gifts at the shower following the bridge game.

Guests at the charming affair were the honored guest, Mrs. Weiler, Miss Esther Riegel, Miss

Persons from Pickaway-co. who attended the State Grange session held at Sandusky, from Tuesday to Thursday of this week, included Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fuller, Miss Anna Weaver, Miss Harriett Weaver and A. M. Peters of Nebraska Grange; Paul Hay of Scoto Valley Grange; Miss Mary Porter, Miss Helen Kirk and Mr. Judy of Salt Creek Valley Grange and Turney Chick, county deputy, of Washington Grange.

ENTERTAIN YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Luther List entertained the Young People's Society of Christ Lutheran church, Tuesday evening, at their home.

The devotional services and business session were in charge of the president, Luther List. The opening hymn, "Come Hither Ye Faithful," was followed by the reading in unison of the 132nd Psalm. After a reading, "Christmas," by Miss Wilma List, all sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The constitution and nominations for new officers were read at the business session.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments after which members enjoyed games, contests and the exchanging of gifts.

WILLIAMSPORT W. C. T. U. MEET WEDNESDAY

The WilliamSPORT W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. W. D. Heiskell, Wednesday afternoon. Thirty members were present. During the business session it was decided to hold a combined meeting on Jan. 1, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Hill. Members of the W. C. T. U., Women's Foreign Missionary Society and Ladies Aid Society are invited to come for an all-day meeting—the W. C. T. U. holding its meeting in the morning with a session for Noon-tide Prayer which will be observed by every Union throughout the Nation on that day. After a covered dish luncheon, the other two societies will meet.

The program presented by the leader, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, was as follows:

Song, "Silent Night," St. Luke 2:1-21
Prayer, Mrs. C. E. Hill, Pres.
"Who Wins?" Mrs. Harry Dunlap
"The Christ I Know"
Telephone Order for Liquor Held Up"
Mrs. C. Puffinberger
"Education Needed"
Leader, "Call for a Day of Prayer"

Mrs. John Seaborn
Mrs. Nettie Brown
"Why Dr. Barnardo Becomes a Teetotaler"
Mrs. C. W. Hays
The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Harry Dunlap, Mrs. George C. Shein and Mrs. Joseph Schleich.

CONGREGATION ENJOYS SOCIAL EVENING

A most enjoyable time was spent at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday evening by members of the congregation. About 150 were present for the occasion. A few of the officers of the board and their wives received the guests at the door where the new minister, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Eichinger, were introduced in whose honor the affair was held.

A most bountiful covered dish dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock in charge of the president of the Ladies' Aid Society, Miss Mattie Gearhart, and her officers and various committees.

After the dinner a social hour was enjoyed. Leslie Pontius acting as toastmaster, with a few well chosen remarks, presented Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, who gave two splendid readings. After a piano solo by Mrs. Hennessy, Rev. Eichinger was presented. In his short talk he told of his appreciation of the cordial way in which he had been received.

After a short talk by Rev. Thomas of Ringgold, a retired minister, the evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

MRS. DRESBACH ENTERTAINS

Mrs. George Dresbach entertained members of her Thursday afternoon club at her home on W. Main-st., yesterday.

Cards were in play at two tables and favors went to Miss Flo Bell, Mrs. Robert Denman and Mrs. Homer Swartz. Mrs. Ray Reid was a guest of the club.

The club will meet the next time with Mrs. Robert Denman, of Watt-st.

MRS. GROCE IS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. James Stout, Mrs. Clarence Wolf and Mrs. Roy Groce were prize winners at the close of an interesting bridge game at the home of Mrs. Roy Groce, of E. Main-st. Thursday evening, when she was hostess to her club of two tables.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Rockford Brown.

"First President"

Selected from among many candidates as the exact "double" of George Washington in physical measurements, to say nothing of a strong facial resemblance, Ellsworth Woods, of Richmond, Va., will play the role of the "Father of His Country" in the historical film being made for the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. Woods is a descendant of Colonel Jonathan Woods, a resident of Virginia County, where Washington was born, and an officer in the Revolutionary War.

their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Snow and daughter, Frances.

Mrs. Albert Schoedinger, of Columbus, was an out-of-town guest at the luncheon bridge entertained at the Pickaway Country Club Wednesday.

Miss Myrtle Root and Mr. and Mrs. Albright, of Rees Station, left for a motor trip to Miami, Fla., where they will spend several months.

Mrs. Olive Marfield, of Columbus, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Delaplaine of Northridge and Misses Harriett and Mary Marfield, E. Main-st. Thursday evening.

We hope those two train robbers who were laughed off by a New conductor have a strong sense of humor.

B. & P. CLUB CELEBRATE EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY

A delightful affair was the birthday dinner of the Business and Professional Women's club at Hanley's tea room Thursday evening, when members of the club celebrated its 8th anniversary. Approximately thirty-five members were seated at 6:30 o'clock to enjoy a turkey dinner at charmingly appointed tables, centered with a birthday cake and various colored flowers.

The pleasure of the dinner hour was enjoyed throughout the delightful program in charge of Mrs. Anna Chandler. After several piano selections by Miss Elizabeth Roundhouse, a very interesting paper, "Our Beloved Child, The Business and Professional Women's Club," was given in a most pleasing manner by Miss Charlotte McEwing. Miss McEwing told in a unique way the history of the club from its organization in 1923 to its eighth anniversary by comparing it with the life of a child.

Miss Mary Wilder was introduced as one of the organizers of the club. Charter members were also mentioned.

Cards were played at the conclusion of the program. Prize for top score was awarded Miss Marie Robertson.

WASHINGTON GRANGE MEETS THURSDAY

At the regular meeting of the Washington Grange held at the Washington-two school building, Thursday evening, Scioto Valley Grange conferred the third and fourth degree on a class of Washington candidates.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett, A. W. Boyer, Miss Martha Hitler and Mrs. Russel Palm were included in the class.

After the meeting an oyster supper was enjoyed by the members.

SHOWER HONORS RECENT BRIDE

Honoring Mrs. Ernest Weiler (Evelyn Fohl), a recent bride, Mrs. James Adams entertained at a dinner, bridge and miscellaneous shower at her home on S. Court-st., Thursday evening.

After the dinner, served at prettily appointed small tables, centered with green tapers tied with white bows, bridge was enjoyed at four tables. When tallies were added score prizes were awarded Miss Evelyn Adkins, Miss Helen Hitler and Miss Esther Riegel.

Mrs. Weiler received many beautiful and useful gifts at the shower following the bridge game.

Guests at the charming affair were the honored guest, Mrs. Weiler, Miss Esther Riegel, Miss Katherine Marion, Mrs. Don Myers, Miss Eleanor Ryan, Mrs. Paul Helwagen, Miss Evelyn Adkins, Miss Helen Hitler, Miss Marion Hitler, Miss John Wentworth, Miss Helen Steele, Miss Helen Snyder, Mrs. Frank Casey, Mrs. Mark Armstrong, Mrs. Joe Burns and Mrs. Winifred Wallace.

ATTEND STATE GRANGE SESSION AT SANDUSKY

Persons from Pickaway-co, who attended the State Grange session held at Sandusky, from Tuesday to Thursday of this week, included Mr. and Mrs. Homer Fullen, Miss Anna Weaver, Miss Harriett Weaver and A. M. Peters of Nebraska Grange; Paul Hay of Scioto Valley Grange; Miss Mary Porter, Miss Helen Kirk and Mr. Judy of Salt Creek Valley Grange and Turney Click, county deputy, of Washington Grange.

ENTERTAIN YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Luther List entertained the Young People's Society of Christ Lutheran church, Tuesday evening, at their home.

The devotional services and business session were in charge of the president, Luther List. The opening hymn, "Come Hither Ye Faithful," was followed by the reading in union of the 132nd Psalm. After a reading, "Christmas," by Miss Wilma List, all sang "O, Little Town of Bethlehem."

The constitution and nominations for new officers were read at the business session.

During the social hour the hostesses served refreshments after which members enjoyed games, contests and the exchanging of gifts.

WILLIAMSPORT W. C. T. U. MEET WEDNESDAY

The Williamsport W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. W. D. Heiskell, Wednesday afternoon. Thirty members were present. During the business session it was decided to hold a combined meeting on Jan. 7, at the home of Mrs. C. E. Hill. Members of the W. C. T. U., Women's Foreign Missionary Society and Ladies Aid Society are invited to come for an all-day meeting—the W. C. T. U. holding its meeting in the morning with a session for Noontide Prayer which will be observed by every Union throughout the Nation on that day. After a covered dish luncheon, the other two societies will meet.

The program presented by the leader, Mrs. Fred L. Tipton, was as follows:

Song "Silent Night" St. Luke 2:1-21
Prayer Mrs. Elita Mick
Business Mrs. C. E. Hill, Pres.

CONGREGATION ENJOYS SOCIAL EVENING

A most enjoyable time was spent at the First Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday evening by members of the congregation. About 150 were present for the occasion. A few of the officers of the board and their wives received the guests at the door where the new minister, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Eichinger were introduced in whose honor the affair was held.

A most bountiful covered dish dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock in charge of the president of the Ladies' Aid Society, Miss Mattie Gearhart, and her officers and various committees.

After the dinner a social hour was enjoyed. Leslie Pontius acting as toastmaster, with a few well chosen remarks, presented Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer, who gave two splendid readings. After a piano solo by Mrs. Hennessy, Rev. Eichinger was presented. In his short talk he told of his appreciation of the cordial way in which he had been received.

After a short talk by Rev. Thomas of Ringgold, a retired minister, the evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

MRS. DRESBACH ENTERTAINS

Mrs. George Dresbach entertained members of her Thursday afternoon club at her home on W. Main-st., yesterday.

Cards were in play at two tables and favors went to Miss Flo Bell, Mrs. Robert Denman and Mrs. Homer Swartz. Mrs. Ray Reid was a guest of the club.

The club will meet the next time with Mrs. Robert Denman, of Watt-st.

MRS. GROCE IS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. James Stout, Mrs. Clarence Wolf and Mrs. Roy Groce were prize winners at the close of an interesting bridge game at the home of Mrs. Roy Groce, of E. Main-st., Thursday evening, when she was hostess to her club of two tables.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Rockford Brown.

"First President"

Selected from among many candidates as the exact "double" of George Washington in physical measurements, to say nothing of a strong facial resemblance, Ellsworth Woods, of Richmond, Va., will play the role of the "Father of His Country" in the historical film being made for the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. Woods is a descendant of Colonel Jonathan Woods, a resident of Virginia County, where Washington was born, and an officer in the Revolutionary War.

Personals

Mrs. Marie Hall has returned to her home in Chillicothe after a visit with Miss Anna Mack.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hammel, N. Court-st., will leave Saturday evening, for Evanston, Ill., where they will spend the holidays with
